

Afag - Your fast partner
during & after this pandemic

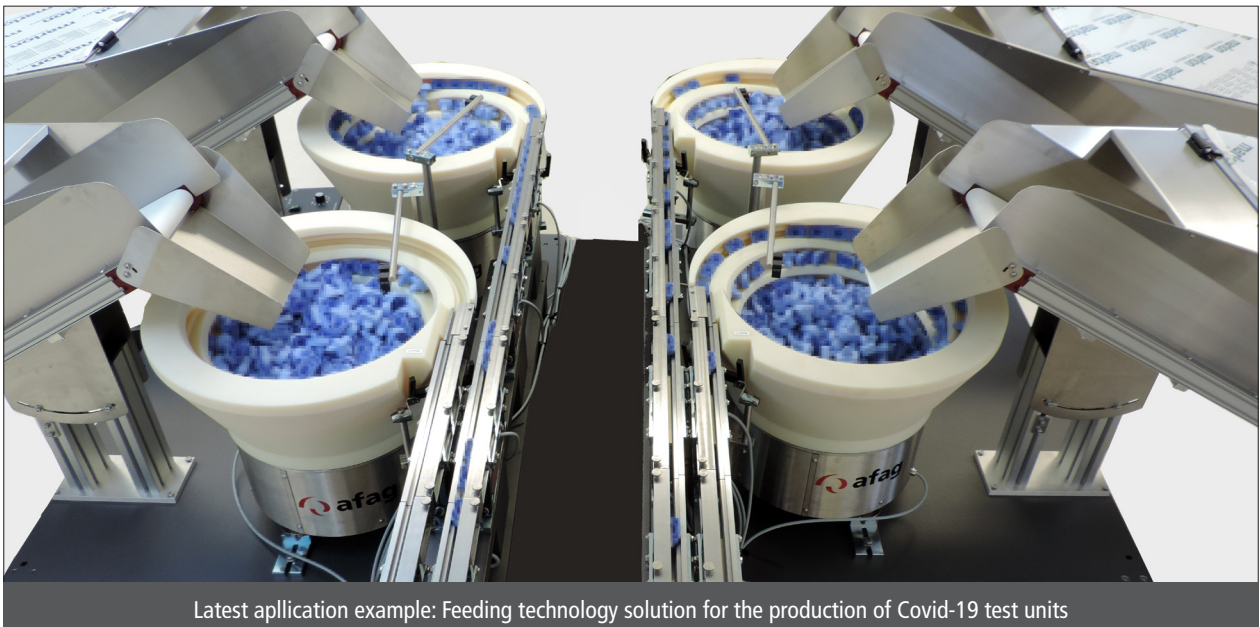

During these unprecedented times, Afag has increased our efforts to effectively provide all our global customer needs, whether for components, solutions, design, testing and or professional services.

We are committed to meeting your demands within a timely manner. Our steadfast desire remains in our continued support for our partners, machine builders and integrators alike, that chose to deploy our high quality and precise solutions, for automatic assembly.

The entire Afag team globally works together to fulfill your orders. If you are currently considering a production solution for your medical devices, that requires experience and competence, let's collaborate! We are happy to be there for you. A partner you can trust.

Your benefits with Afag as a Partner

- › Fast response to your medical-technical request
- › Precise and short delivery times
- › Everything from a single source: feeding and handling solutions, as well as systems for linear transport
- › Close international cooperation with teams on three continents
- › High-quality and durable products for maximum production results
- › Project implementation always with maximum focus on rapid creation of customer benefit

Latest application example: Feeding technology solution for the production of Covid-19 test units

For more information please visit afag.com

